

SCHOOL CHIEF WILL 'STEP DOWN' TO PRINCIPAL

CEMENT MAN IS BLOCKED AGAIN HERE

Cement contractor Dominic Piccinini still has a battle on his hands to get commercial zoning on what's left of his right-of-way land astride Marchbanks Park.

More protests from homeowners last Thursday prompted the city planning commission to continue public hearing on Piccinini's latest bid to have the southern portion of the strip zoned for a warehouse operation.

The planners will tackle the request anew at their December meeting. They registered a 4-0 vote Thursday after many of the park-side homeowners charged the zoning would lower their property values.

Piccinini has offered to sell the northerly part of the old Southern Pacific right-of-way to the city for $18,600. The council has not yet officially moved on this proposal, though it meets city needs for parking space and access to the park on North Parkview avenue.

Piccinini purchased the property this summer from the railroad for $31,000 after the city council told Southern Pacific it could not afford the expenditure. Councilmen subsequently did an "about face" after public protests against the commercial operation were organized into a major movement.

The council feels that the northern half of the Piccinini property is adequate for city needs and that the contractor has acted fairly and in good faith considering the public uproar.

SUPERINTENDENCY SOON OPEN

4-0 Verdict Allows Weibel To Remain With Local District

H. Z. WEIBEL
... He'll stay

Superintendent H. Z. Weibel, facing "dismissal" as chief of Jefferson Elementary school district next June, Monday night was granted his request to stay with the district—first in the capacity of building consultant, then as a principal.

The unexpected move, first presented the board by the 54-year-old administrator last Thursday in closed session, was approved 4-0 by trustees. Mrs. Katherine Mullen, fifth member of the board, was absent due to illness.

Weibel, under conditions of the agreement Monday night, will end his superintendency next June. He then will take over "interim" duties in the dual capacity of consultant and specialist on present and planned school buildings and grounds. He subsequently will be named principal of one of the three new schools due to open here in 1960.

The school board, at its December 1 meeting, will officially declare the superintendency vacant. A successor to Weibel will be sought immediately thereafter, though the new chief may not take over until next July.

Weibel, superintendent here since 1951, last December was notified by trustees that his contract would not be renewed after June of 1959. This "ouster" decision was unanimous, though present board chairman Joseph Lewkowicz later said he was against the superintendent's leaving.

The ultimatum to Weibel was made public in February of this year, at which time the school board gave him a one-year extension of contract in order that he would have sufficient time to secure employment elsewhere.

Weibel had until the end of this year to make his resignation announcement to the board, thus giving trustees authority to set the machinery in motion for a new superintendent.

Weibel, who checked the legality of his request with the district attorney, said the decision was made "in the best interests of the district and myself."

In a brief and relaxed statement, he added:

"I requested a principalship because the district needs principals and I need a job. I made this request at this time so I would know where I stand and to dispel any uncertainty about the superintendency that might exist."

Citing that he had only taken five weeks of vacation in the past seven years (where his contract called for one month off a year), Weibel said the rapid building program of the district requires the services of a building and grounds consultant and his appointment would save the district the cost of about $4000 needed to hire an administrative assistant to do the job.

The school board last December held that Weibel's contract as superintendent was being terminated due to his "lack of confidence" in his administrative procedures.

Rallying to Weibel's support was a citizen's committee numbering 200 persons, the district's certificated (teaching) and classified staffs, and a majority of the principals. These groups all accorded Weibel votes of confidence and asked that trustees reconsider their firing move or else call in a professional board of review to examine the facts allegedly used by trustees in ordering his dismissal.

The board (two members of which lost their jobs in the May trustee election) refused to heed these requests and declared that "delegating their duty in evaluating the superintendent to an outside agency (board of review) was an improper procedure."

JESD GETS $1.3 MILLION

FUNDS OKAYED ON 3 MORE SCHOOLS

Parents who fear double sessions got some welcome news last week.

State Allocations Board meeting Thursday in Los Angeles, authorized release of almost $1,300,000 to Jefferson Elementary District for the construction of two new K-8 schools and three classroom additions to Olympia School.

According to Dr. David Shapiro, assistant JESD superintendent who attended the session, the state board granted: $652,234 for M-Pauline Brown School in St. Francis Heights, $520,069 for the Fernando Rivera (Westlake Basin) School, and $125,418 for the three additional classrooms at Olympia.

Architect Mario Ciampi, in charge of all three projects, estimates the Olympia additions and Rivera School will be ready for students in January of 1960. The Brown School should be ready for occupancy by September of 1960, according to Ciampi's timetable.

The state board in its allocation for the Rivera project included $1078 for the construction of an access stairway from Alemany to the park-side school and inferred it would

New Furniture First Step To Modernize Jeff

High school trustees last week took the first move in their modernization plans for landmark Jefferson High.

They asked for bids on approximately $32,000 in new furniture to replace some of the "antiques" in the older sections of the school. Replacement of time-worn equipment will be the next step, bringing the expected new furniture and equipment expenditures from bond funds to about $75,000.

Supt. Ed Morgan said the board should be ready and eligible by the first of the year to decide on whether it will be more practical to modernize or renovate the ancient parts of the 30-year old school. This will come when the district goes on the state aid program, which will be kicked off with appropriations for the third and fourth district high schools, located in Sharp Park and at Linda Mar.

Trustees Halt Short Feud Over Architect

The short-lived "fuss" over awarding architect Angus McSweeney the contracts on three new elementary schools here ended Monday night when trustees, McSweeney and architect Mario Ciampi arrived at a satisfactory settlement.

Ciampi, veteran architect for the district, agreed to relinquish his earlier contract to design the Abe Lincoln School in Westlake Unit 10 in favor of a commitment from the district allowing him to design the proposed intermediate (seventh and eighth grade) school in the undeveloped Christen lands. The latter school is two years away on the district's timetable for new buildings.

McSweeney, whose firm designed the $10 million Stonestown development, major projects for the government, and many commercial concerns, thus sealed his "package deal" with the district to design the Abe Lincoln, Thomas Edison and Daniel Webster Schools.

McSweeney, whose fee for the three projects will be 6.5 per cent on one school and 6 of 1960. Actual construction time, following state approval on plans and allocation of funds, he estimates at six months, and will begin next June.

The schools will be awarded to one contractor and will be designed along the same pattern with minor variations.

Abe Lincoln and Thomas Edison will be located together south of Westmoor High School. Daniel Webster will be located in the new St. Francis Heights development.

Ciampi earlier had protested the award of the Abe Lincoln contract to McSweeney, since the board two years ago gave Ciampi the go-ahead to design Lincoln. The site was subsequently moved from the earthquake fault area west of Skyline boulevard in the Palisades (the state wouldn't approve its location there), but Ciampi (Continued on Page 2)

SCHOOL ARCHITECT

McSweeney's Firm Does Much Business

Architect Angus McSweeney, given the green light this week to begin plans for three new Daly City elementary schools—to be built at the same time, boasts a long record of experience in Northern California.

The 58-year-old professional, licensed in 1929, has handled a multitude of architectural projects, ranging from the $14 million housing development at Ft. Ord and the $10 million Stonestown apartment development to work on military sites and commercial firms.

Survivors include his daughter, Lorraine Carmassi; his son-in-law, Angelo J. Carmassi; two grandchildren, Dennis and Lorraine Carmassi; his mother, Mrs. Lorraine Franco, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Maria Garino. Rosary was recited Monday evening at the chapel of Valte, Marini, Perata and Company of San Francisco, followed by funeral services Tuesday morning. Requiem high mass was offered at Our Lady of Mercy church, with entombment at Italian cemetery.

L. J. Gazzano, assistant Westlake Bank of America branch manager, is in charge of funeral announcement from the bank's San Francisco headquarters.

ABBOTT STREET RAID

Bookie Tries Again, But Cops Too Alert

Bookies beware! Daly City's police are on the lookout at all times.

This was evident Tuesday when Superior Judge Wayne Millington in Redwood City sentenced a 28-year old Excelsior district bartender, picked up three weeks ago by Daly City inspectors on suspicion of attempting to set up a sizable bookmaking "office" here.

Police Capt. Roy Beecher and Sgt. Bruno Conci said they called in Attilio J. Spagnuolo, 318 Paris street, on October 28 after a tip that the latter was planning a bookie headquarters at his apartment, 254 Abbott street. Spagnuolo rented the apartment under a false name.

Arrested here a year ago in a raid on a Westlake home bookie operation, Spagnuolo admitted to Beecher and Conci last month that he was ready to go back in business. But since the inspectors couldn't find much physical evidence in examining Spagnuolo's apartment on Abbott street, they could only "nail" him on violation of probation.

Last year the bartender was sentenced to five years probation and fined $1000 on the bookie charge. Judge Millington Tuesday gave Spagnuolo 30 days in county jail and continued his probation.

Beecher said that to the best of his knowledge, the Spagnuolo case marked the first time in San Mateo county that a convicted bookie was apprehended a second time while on probation for a first offense.

JUBILANT family is that of Municipal Judge-elect Charles Becker, 42-year-old attorney who lives at 5 Fieldcrest drive in Westlake. The ladies in the Becker household are wife Norma and wee Jessica, age 5, Geoffrey (at left) 8, and Douglas, 10, attend Westlake School. Judge Becker assumes his Northern Judicial District post, a six-year assignment, in January, succeeding Judge Tom Bocci Jr., who will return to private law practice.

Colma Bartender Booked For Drunk Driving

A 32-year-old Colma bartender was arrested for drunk driving Tuesday morning after he was clocked at 8 o'clock after he turned his sedan into a truck the Mission-San Jose intersection.

Police Capt. Roy Beecher and Sgt. Bruno Conci said they called in Attilio J. Spagnuolo, 318 Paris street, on October 28 after a tip that the latter was planning a bookie headquarters at his apartment, 254 Abbott street. Spagnuolo rented the apartment under a false name.

Edison should be ready for children by January of 1960. DRUNK DRIVING COSTS THE LADY A 'MERE' $750

Judge Tom Bocci Jr. meted out fines totaling a whopping $1200 Thursday in sentencing three "negligent" drivers in municipal court.

Peggy Slavinsky, of 2030 Ortega street, San Francisco, arrested in Daly City on October 10, pled guilty to her second drunk driving offense and driving with a suspended license. She was given a choice of 90 days in jail or five days in jail and $750 fine, with 20 days to decide.

Oris J. Nordlund, South San Francisco truck driver, booked here for drunk driving last week, withdrew an earlier "not guilty" plea and was sentenced to 30 days in jail or $250 fine.

4-0 VERDICT ALLOWS WEIBEL TO STAY HERE

Monday's meeting that they had no intentions of making a stand on Weibel's reinstatement as superintendent. Both stated the decision was made by the old board and therefore would not be challenged by them.

Trustee Mike Callan, who along with Mrs. Mullen triggered the move against Weibel with then chairman Hartley Appleton and Mrs. Doris Wimberly, Monday lauded Weibel's request and said the superintendent would be of valuable assistance to the district due to his experience, knowledge of problems and familiarity with the community and its children.

Weibel thus will serve as consultant on new buildings and specialist on existing buildings and grounds through the school year of 1959-60. His salary in the dual capacity will remain at $14,000, his per annum rate as superintendent. When he is appointed principal of one of the new schools (either Daniel Webster, Thomas Edison or Abe Lincoln) he will be paid the maximum district salary for its principals, $10,225.

Trustees made no official comment Monday night on rumors that one of the two assistant superintendents might step up the ladder and be named new district head. Both Dr. David Shapiro, in charge of business affairs, and Dr. Vin-ton Stratton, district director of instruction, receive $12,000 a year in the capacity of assistant superintendents.

Weibel, his wife and two children, reside at 1712 Louvaine drive, Colma. Their daughter is a senior at Westmoor High, one son attends City College of San Francisco, and their oldest son is an officer aboard an aircraft carrier.

Motorist Flunks 2 Sobriety Tests, Pleads 'Not Guilty'

Though he failed to pass roadside and hospital sobriety tests, Orris J. Nordlund, 39, a South San Francisco truck driver, entered a "not guilty" plea in municipal court Thursday on a charge of drunk driving filed by Daly City police.

Judge Tom Bocci set trial date for December 9. Nordlund was transferred to county jail in lieu of bail.

Officer Richard Brewer booked the truck driver at 1:30 a.m. last Thursday after he observed the latter's car weaving and changing speeds on Mission street between Alp and Crocker. Brewer had to use his siren and patrol car red light before he was able to bring Nordlund to a halt at the Crocker intersection.

Nordlund gave his address as 241 Dundee drive.

In another drunk driving case, Benito J. Escobar pled guilty to a Daly City charge and was fined $250. Bocci suspended a 30-day jail sentence on condition Escobar pays the fine.

lert his firm still had a legitimate contract despite the delays and shift of the school site.

Trustees last week suggested Ciampi accept an alternate school instead of Abe Lincoln, thus allowing McSweeney the "package" assignment on the three schools.

The district attorney, consulted by the board on Ciampi's position regarding Lincoln, ruled that Ciampi had a legitimate claim to build the school. But since Ciampi had no legal commitment to build the school, the latter agreed to accept the alternate school (in the Christen lands) to expedite the district's contract with McSweeney.

Ciampi was praised by trustees when he said his firm would not charge the district for the work it had done on Abraham Lincoln. Ciampi repeated that the delays his firm and the district had faced on Lincoln, the M. Pauline Brown site and the new General Pershing school "were unfortunate" and "reminded that he had done everything possible to speed the schools."

The school board Monday night deadlocked on Tom Noonan's motion that McSweeney's fee on designing the three schools be reduced to 6 per cent across the board. Trustee Mike Callan, seconded by Chairman Joseph Lewkowicz, felt that cutting McSweeney's 6.5 per cent fee on one of the schools would restrict the architect even more and cost the district more money in the long run. Noonan, asking McSweeney for his opinion, finally reversed his stand and got unanimous approval to let the 6.5 per cent clause remain as was originally agreed upon.

The American Institute of Architects last week absolved McSweeney of alleged "competitive low bidding" on contracts to design the three schools here, citing that McSweeney was unaware when interviewed by trustees that Ciampi had earlier claims on Abe Lincoln. McSweeney followed up with a letter to the board stating that he would not apply for any school contract already granted another architect.

Monday's meeting clarified the situation, however, and all three parties left satisfied.

Social Security Chamber Speaker's Subject Thursday

CHARTER STUDY IS WORTHWHILE

The charter form of government, which gives citizens of a community a more effective voice in municipal management, bears investigation in a city of this size.

The charter system enables cities to remedy the shortcomings of the general laws of most states by incorporating the most accepted and successful principles of effective city administration.

As in the city manager-council system, charter administration delegates authority to professional men by council vote. But as an added guarantee, charter government affords the people to directly establish management principles by the power of their votes.

The present Daly City council should examine and weigh the merits of charter management to determine if Daly City would best be administered by this system.

Letters To The Editor

'Burned-out' Family Thanks Its Neighbors

Dear Mr. Bradshaw:

May I request valuable space in your paper in order to publicly express the gratitude of my entire family to our neighbors and friends in the Daly City area for their kindness subsequent to our disastrous fire of November 3? While our experience was a terrifying one, it was not without its lighter side, for it proved, in conclusive manner, the goodness and charity of our neighbors, our friends, and of those who were previously unknown to us. To attempt to thank each of these wonderful people individually would be impossible, for many appeared quietly to offer their assistance and as unobtrusively left their aid without our ever knowing who they were.

I should like to pay tribute to the Daly City Fire Department for their efficiency and consideration. Residents of the Westlake area can be assured that they are receiving the ultimate in fire protection from the fire officers and men of this department. Our thanks also go to the American Red Cross, St. Vincent de Paul Society, and Father Power of Our Lady of Mercy, for their prompt aid in alleviating our desperate situation; to Gene Harrington of Harrington Realty, and Bill Adams of Westlake Home Sales, Inc., for their concerted and unselfish efforts in securing a new home for us without undue delay; to our neighbors who sheltered, clothed us, and most important of all let us know so many ways that we were not alone; to the operators of the Lake Merced Lodge Motel whose consideration has made possible for us to remain in the Westlake area until our new home is ready.

To each and to all of you, well as to many whose names we do not know, our grateful thanks and our prayer that God in His infinite wisdom will see fit to reward you for your kindness.

Gratefully yours,
ANDREW G. DOIRON
and Family,
Lake Merced Lodge,
Daly City.

The small son of one of our United Crusade workers asked me, "What is this UNITED crusade?" True, the words united and untied have the same letters, but what a difference in the meaning of the two words.

Through the united efforts of press and thousands of San Mateo County residents, 25 local agencies are assured funds for the coming year. Made possible are Red Cross swimming pools and first-aid courses, research in heart disease, arthritis and rheumatism, aid to the elderly, funds for the L.C.A. and Y.W.C.A., Catholic and Jewish Welfare, Girl Boy Scouts, the Visiting Nurse Association, and the list is on and on.

There can be no financial reward for the wonderful group of people who gave so diligent of their time and energy in the year's United Crusade, but

Temple Ladies Set Three-Day Rummage Sale

Under the direction of President Mrs. Frank Langfelder and Chairman Mrs. Alan Stewart, the Sisterhood of Temple Judea will hold its annual rummage sale at 2186 1/2 Sutter street on December 1, 2 and 3 for the benefit of its religious school. The hours of the sale will be from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Other members of the committee assisting in gathering the merchandise to be sold are the Mesdames Abe Rabinovitch, William Barbour, Mervin Coleman, Samuel Stein, Arthur Nevins and Albert Zipser. Preparations for this "once a year" rummage sale were started last January.

Items to be sold will be many and varied, including household needs, furniture, odds and ends, and an assortment of clothing for the entire family.

Everyone is invited to participate for this worthwhile cause.

'Crisis In Beirut' Speaker's Subject At State College

The Women's Faculty Club of San Francisco State College will meet this Friday, at 2 p.m. in the activities room of the administration building, 1600 Holloway avenue.

Guest speaker will be Dr. Lavone Hanna, who recently returned from a year in Lebanon where she taught at the American University in Beirut. Her topic "Crisis in Beirut" will be high-lighted by films of the area and other related Near East areas.

Dr. Hanna is a professor of education at San Francisco State College. She received her advanced degree from Stanford and was awarded an honorary degree from Lindenwood College in Missouri. She is a past president of the California Secondary School Administrators, was formerly on the staff of Stanford University, and is a former teacher of history. She is the author of professional books on teaching of the social studies as well as "Education for Social Competence" and "Facing Life's Problems."

Following the discussion there will be a tea under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Donald Garrity and Mrs. Alan W. Johnson. Mrs. Paul Bedesem and Mrs. Donald Gibbons will be hostesses for the day.

Representatives of twenty women's organizations who have been invited to this function will be the honored guests. The Women's Faculty Club wishes to open its doors to all women in the Bay Area. The limited seating capacity of its meeting rooms, however, requires this to be done on an invitation basis.

BELOW SEA LEVEL

The Coachella Valley is below sea level, varying from 22 feet at Indio to more than 200 feet at Salton Sea, says the California State Automobile Association.

In extending my personal thanks to the press and to the workers of North County, may I quote a favorite saying, which I hope is the way they feel: "There is no joy which can equal that which springs from the conscious performance of a good act."

Parents Urged To Go All-Out For Scouting

All-out efforts to insure a continuing source of Scouting unit leadership deserve the participation of every parent interested in the youth program in the Lake Merced district.

Robert Hunter, district chairman, said this week.

Hunter called attention to the following training courses:

Cub leaders' training course at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesdays November 26 and December 3 at Aptos Junior High.

Lake Merced District Roundtable for program planning and training of all Cub Pack, Scout Troop and Explorer Post leaders at 7:30 p.m. this Wednesday at Aptos.

Cub Leaders Pow-wow training all day Saturday, November 22, at Luther Burbank Junior High.

New Explorer Advisor Training program all day on Saturday, December 13, at Daly City War Memorial building.

"Every parent in a unit should be asking himself or herself who is going to train and prepare now to assume leadership of the unit a month or a year from now when the Scout unit is left without leaders," Hunter said. "It is just as simple as this—someone must be ready to shoulder responsibility if we're going to have continuity and steady progress in providing this most necessary of youth programs."

CONSTRUCTION BEGINS

New Wholesale Grocery Plant Here Will Be Biggest On Peninsula

Construction got under way this week on the Peninsula's largest wholesale grocery distribution center—a half million dollar facility for Richmond Wholesale Grocery Company that will cover an entire square block in Daly City.

Richmond Wholesale Grocery, long established at 2044 O'Farrell street, San Francisco, plans to move to the completed Daly City building about February 1, according to John Musso, the firm's president.

The move is in line with a major expansion program, Musso said.

A number of historic buildings—including the famed Willow Tree Tavern—have been razed to accommodate the 96,000 square foot facility bounded by Dunk street, San Pedro road, Washington street and the Southern Pacific railroad tracks.

The dock-high, reinforced concrete building will include 6000 square feet of office space, Musso said. The remainder of the area will be used for storage and distribution facilities.

A railroad siding and docking space for 12 trucks and trailers will be provided to handle anticipated volume of food supplies at the center, and a spacious parking area will be set aside for 30 company salesmen, members of the administrative staff and other employees. Calisto Musso, treasurer, will continue as distribution superintendent at the new plant.

Architect Ralph B. Berger of San Francisco designed the structure and North State Builders Ltd. of Menlo Park has been awarded the contract for its construction.

Some of the buildings that were leveled to make room for the new commercial facility were more than half a century old.

Northern Cal Squires Gather For Communion

Northern California Chapter, Circle of Columbian Squires, will be the host at the gigantic Corporate Communion to be held this Sunday, 10 o'clock Mass, at St. Mary Magdalen Church.

Immediately following the Mass, breakfast will be served for all Squires in the school cafeteria. This Communion and breakfast is held in honor of the Rev. John J. Klaiap, State Father Prior for Columbian Squires.

All Squires in Northern California are expected to attend—a throng of 300 in all.

Jack O'Blayley, Knights of Columbus state membership chairman, will be the principal speaker. Also present will be: Arthur Melka, state treasurer for Knights of Columbus; Fidel Martinez, Knights of Columbus youth director; James H. Gould, of Daly City, state Squires director, and his assistant, Eugene Gouig.

Among the Squires will be a large number of candidates who will be invested following the breakfast. The investiture ceremony will be conducted by the team of Daly City Circle 977.

Hanna Boys' Center At Sonoma Marks 9th Birthday Next Month

Marchbanks Publications was asked this week to submit the annual report of one of California's most unusual corporations to Daly City residents who have helped in its development.

The non-profit corporation is Hanna Boys' Center, the California "Boys' town" built near Sonoma entirely by voluntary contributions and bequests. In reporting on 1958 progress at the attractive little "town" in the Valley of the Moon, the home's director, the Rt. Rev. William L. O'Connor, expressed appreciation to the many local residents who have contributed to Hanna Center's growth.

Among the year's dividends for these donors is the recent arrival of the 600th youngster, to find a home at the haven for neglected boys of all races and creeds, in time for the coming observance of the ninth anniversary of the home, on December 4. Chief Justice Earl Warren, then governor of the state, dedicated the 180-acre site after ground-breaking ceremonies led by Bishop Fulton J. Sheen.

The year's progress has included development of the home's academic school and ranching activities, and extensive expansion of the new trade school program to include training in such fields as electricity, carpentry, general mechanics, metals, and printing. Chief efforts of the director now are centered upon development of the trade school to the point where all of his boys can prepare for productive citizenship by learning the elements of a useful skill. His success, he said, depends upon continued favorable response to an annual letter of appeal for help which he sends, for the boys, to many California homes.

Primary aim of the center has been the prevention of delinquency before it becomes a fact. The effort is made to give a real home to the boy whose circumstances are such that he is, through little or no fault of his own, "pre-delinquent," or "potentially delinquent." The goal is to begin working with the individual boy before he makes a misstep costly to himself and to society.

This area is represented on the Home's board of directors by Lawrence R. McDonnell, of Daly City.

The Town Record

By Roy Hurlbert

Last week's Jeff High PTA gathering mustered a little more parental participation, though the monthly turnouts are still sorry for a school of Jeff's size and standing.

The PTA generals can't blame poor publicity for the lack of interest by the folks at home. With Mrs. SERVART OJAKIAN burning the midnight oil as Jeff High PTA publicity agent, no one could ask for more. Her efforts are ceaseless for the schools and the Girl Scout district.

What else could you expect. In Armenian, "Servart" means "sweet rose."

Westlake ANDREW DOIRON mailed a lengthy letter this week praising the neighborliness and charity of DC folks for the aiding his family when a fire ousted them from 62 Montrose drive.

The Doirons, including six youngsters, lost just about everything. But if you read Andrew's message to the editor, you'll know that material things aren't the most important factors in life.

Mr. Doiron had particularly fitting words for the DC fire department. Chief Elmer Kennedy has a very efficient crew.

Wednesday's informal meeting in Colma featuring talks by two state schoolhouse planning leaders had one drawback.

The sponsoring citizens' committee failed to invite members of the local school boards.

In case you didn't catch the post-mortem offered on the 49ers by a San Francisco telecaster Sunday, the guy suggested that Councilman-Coach Joe Verducci be recruited to replace Frankie Albert.

Joe isn't about to consider leaving SF State and Daly City. He could have nailed the Stanford job when Chuck Taylor left. But Verducci doesn't prefer the pressure that ages pro and big-school coaches.

Joe doesn't have to win at SF State.

KIP Workshop will ask the city council soon to help locate a building for a center here.

Low on funds, like the Daly City Police Athletic League, KIP has done much to promote the talents of this community's youngsters.

Trouble is only a few citizens are interested in giving a helping hand. Mrs. Kay Irvine and her staff don't get any pay for overtime.

Absent via illness from last Thursday's study meeting and Monday's productive regular session was veteran JESD trustee Katherine Mullen.

The busy lady has to be sick to miss a board convale. It's a real rarity for her.

BASIC TRAINING FOR EXPLORER SCOUT LEADERS

Advisors, assistants, Explorer Unit committeemen, commissioners and all adults related to the new Explorer program will be offered a basic training course by the Leadership Training Committee of the San Mateo County Council, Boy Scouts of America, according to Chairman Robert L. Coss.

The course will be held this Saturday at the South San Francisco Scout House, Orange avenue Memorial Park, beginning at 9 a.m. and lasting until 4 p.m.

The course will be repeated November 29 at the San Carlos Scout House, on Cedar street, north of Brittain avenue, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The new Explorer program provides six areas of experience for the boy from 14 to 18: vocational, social, outdoor, personal fitness, service and citizenship activities. These activities will be planned and carried out by the boys with assistance from adult advisors and consultants.

All sessions of the training courses provide information as to the organization of Explorer Posts, the selection of boy leaders and the operation and program of Explorer units and are based on the material found in the new Explorer Manual and related literature.

Instructor for the courses will be Frank McIntosh, Director of Exploring.

TV and Radio

Simply radiating personality and showmanship, dynamic Danny Thomas captured the complete attention of the press with his delightful wit and talent for ad libbing at a recent San Francisco luncheon in his honor. He was in town to meet the press and talk about his fall television series which is seen every Monday evening at 8 over KPX.

Obviously very fond of people, he also possesses a deep concern for them as evidenced by his fervent plea of the continuing need for new and young entertainers. He asked the press to encourage young people just getting started and to support programs where they can get this valuable experience.

With lovely Marjorie Lord who portrays his wife and three youngsters Sherry Jackson, Rusty Hamer and Angela Cartwright, the program is built around hilarious situations that are so typical of the average American family. The program is most entertaining and good family television.

Talented host on KRON-TV's "Science in Action," Dr. Earl S. Herald of Westlake, will be seen coast-to-coast on the program "Exploring With Hope," featuring Bob Hope in a special program saluting the activities of Explorer Scouts. Dr. Herald will talk about the scientific activities of the group. The program is scheduled for November 29, 1:30 p.m., over KRON-TV.

New 13-week series over KQED featuring S. I. Hayakawa, internationally-known emcee, titled "Language in Action," shown on Mondays at 4:30 p.m. and 9 p.m.

ABC's "John Hopkins File" will discuss radar on the November 23rd program over KGO-TV at 11:30 a.m.

"Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" and "Heidi" will be shown over KTVU's film festival the first two Sundays in December at 4 p.m.

KIP Workshop, founded in Daly City by Mrs. Kay Irvine (center) received this Certificate of Appreciation in recent ceremonies at the Presidio for providing Army personnel with top-flight entertainment. Mrs. Irvine, flanked by KIP performers Mary Lynn Sallade (left) and Kathy Sallade, accepted the award from Col. Frank J. Ratliff, commander of the Presidio. Mrs. Audrey Sallade is KIP director. KQED Man Cites Growth, Merits Of TV In Schools To PTA Here

By Elaine Rosendahl

"American school children spend as much time in front of the television set as in the classroom," Richard Barnett, program director for KQED television station, told the Vista Mar PTA Wednesday night last week.

"Not only does the average American family spend 5½ hours per day in front of the TV monster, but there are more TV sets in the United States today than bath tubs. Now we can be considered the more entertained, rather than the cleanest."

Telling about the new classroom TV curriculum being used daily by ten Bay Area counties, Barnett stressed that television in the classroom puts the spotlight on schools. "Now parents can attend the classes at home, since it is not closed circuit, and know what their children are being taught in school. Classes are being oriented for the fourth grade level and above, but in a short time will be given to all age group. Fourteen classes are given each week by KQED and classroom teachers appreciate the opportunity of observing the reactions of their students to the subject matter and more time is left to prepare classroom material."

"Absenteeism and disciplinary problems have lessened, for the children enjoy TV classes, too. Over 40 school districts and 130,000 children are taking advantage of this new medium of instruction," concluded Barnett.

"Views on Classroom Television and its Benefit to the Schools," a specially written report of H. Z. Weibel, Jefferson Elementary District superintendent, was read by Miss Marjorie Tobias, Vista Mar principal.

Cub Pack 259, led by Tommie West, conducted the opening flag ceremonies. The Rev. Charles Christian of Westlake Lutheran Church led the invocation.

Mrs. Robert St. Clair, PTA president, announced that the unit would sell frozen orange juice treats each Friday to the Vista Mar School children. Mrs. Albert Benezra, membership chairman, reported that 511 members had joined the new unit.

County Cancer Drive Leaders Set Luncheon

Some 75 San Mateo county chairmen and leaders of the local branch of the American Cancer Society are expected to gather for a special "Thanksgiving luncheon" at The Shadows restaurant in San Mateo this Thursday noon.

Among them will be many Coastside representatives, and leaders from San Bruno, Millbrae, South San Francisco and Daly City.

Purpose of the gathering is to discuss major plans for the county-wide campaign fund drive in April, according to Cancer Society President Mrs. Grace Hedge.

She pointed out, "Each year the job of canvassing our growing county and reaching the good people of this area who have been so generous and understanding gets bigger and bigger. We want to start early enough to get our work well under way so that we can concentrate our efforts in topping even our outstanding record of 1958."

Another major purpose of the session is to get chairmen acquainted, to discuss problems and to "get the term spirit going."

Some 800,000 Americans with cancer have been returned to normal, useful lives. In 1900 the diagnosis of cancer was tantamount to a death sentence. Thirty-six years ago, one of 10 patients survived. Twenty-five years ago it was one in seven; ten years ago, one in four.

Now, one in three persons who gets the disease is saved, and if ever cancer were treated in time the cure rate would be boosted to one in two.

BLINDNESS DOESN'T STOP THEM—Although totally blind, these children enjoy healthful recreation every Saturday at San Francisco's Argonne playground. Activities such as these for blind boys and girls, sponsored by the Lighthouse for the Blind, will continue next year if ample funds are raised through the Thanksgiving Seal Campaign now in progress, according to Tom Nash and Rose Re-nick, Lighthouse executives. "If you have received your Lighthouse seals, return your check for $2 or more," they said, "and you will be helping immeasurably in bringing happiness and adjustment to blind boys and girls of the Bay Area."

Speed Alone Causes Few Accidents Says Auto Association

Speed is too often blamed as the major cause of traffic accidents, maintains the California State Automobile Association.

Actually speed in itself produces relatively few mishaps, it is the driving conditions that attend the speed, says the CSAA. For example, 20 miles per hour might be too fast under certain circumstances, while 40 miles per hour might well be too slow on a modern six-lane expressway where the bulk of the traffic is moving at 60 to 70 miles per hour.

The AAA motorists' organization reports that the statistics on speed contradict the favorite beliefs of many leading safety authorities. Of the cars involved in fatal accidents, over 80 per cent were traveling less than 60 miles per hour.

Among the conditions that play a part in safe speed are tires, condition of the road surface, traffic density, and the physical limitations of the driver. Only when related to these factors is speed an influence in safe driving says the CSAA.

Something For Everyone

Why do children like cereals that crackle and crunch? Why are women in supermarkets attracted to items wrapped in red? Why are more and more products wearing out from psychological obsolescence? Why do men think of a mistress when they see a convertible in a show window? Why is it that a woman seldom buys the dress she just naturally loves?

These are some of the questions posed by a significant book that has been a best seller since it was published in 1957. This book called "The Hidden Persuaders" was written by Vance Packard to be your eye-opener, your guide to the age of manipulation into which we are entering. If you have not read it, you will want to, I am sure, so plan to spend some time with it.

Another highly significant book that should be read by many, many voters of Daly City (because it discusses points that become issues in Daly City elections) is John Kenneth Galbraith's "The Affluent Society." Actually the central theme of this book may sound rather academic, but it is most pertinent.

Professor Galbraith holds that the keystone of almost all current economic thought is badly out of line. From his office at Harvard, Professor Galbraith wrote that we have reached a point in our economic history in which the drive for ever more production—far from solving all of our problems—actually creates them. As an example of such a problem, he cites the horribly inadequate public services that we find in our nation where grim scarcity and poverty hardly exist.

The solution to this problem is not more economic growth, but higher taxation, especially more sales taxes which we should support, he says, because they are the only way state and local governments, where public services are starved most, can raise enough money.

Another noteworthy book, but not nearly so ponderous, is Andrew Tully's "Treasury Agent." Here a noted White House reporter tells of extraordinary incidents where the world-famous T-Men matched wits with bootleggers, diamond smugglers and dope pushers, with Frank Costello, with hoodlum Waxey Gordon, with Al Capone, with counterfeit rings and big-time tax violators. Here you can read of the search for the kidnaper of the Lindbergh baby and many other nationwide searches.

One delightful book that came out a few seasons ago is "Heaven's Betsy" by Charles Earle Funk. In this thin volume, an editor of a distinguished dictionary discusses sayings that we hear every day without realizing where they originated, or, indeed, what they mean.

Of the important new books of fiction, the following have been on the best seller lists for a long time, indicating that something in them holds the interest of our fellow Americans. The White Witch by Goudge; Exile by Camus; The Mountain Road by White; The Sergeant by Dennis Murphy; Doctor Zhivago by Pasternak; The Enemy Camp by Weidman; The Exodus by Uris; The Image Makers by Dryer; Women and Thomas Harrow by Marquand. A copy of each of these books can be found in the Daly City public libraries. Please come in for them and for many more.

Chairman Asks Spare Dollars For TB Seals

"Don't spend your whole Christmas Club check yet," Martin Orloff urged Daly City and Colma residents today. As Daly City and Colma Christmas Seal chairman, he reminded his friends and neighbors to save a few dollars—or whatever they choose—for the annual anti-tuberculosis drive.

Orloff pointed out that tuberculosis cost America $725,000,000 last year, most of it in tax money. "Huge sums of the taxpayers' money will continue to be spent on the treatment and rehabilitation of the tuberculosis until an effective vaccine or drug is discovered that will protect us from the disease," Orloff declared.

Part of every dollar contributed to the San Mateo County Tuberculosis Association is spent to finance research on TB which may someday lead to an easy method of protecting everyone against TB, Orloff concluded.

Highlight of the week comes Sunday at 4 p.m., when Knott gives the public talk, "Is Love Practical Among the Nations of our Time." All meetings will be held at Kingdom Hall, 206 Plymouth avenue. "Persons of goodwill are welcome and no collection will be taken," Casperson said.

Bay Area Survey Is Launched On Jewish Population

A study of the Jewish population in San Francisco, Marin county and the Peninsula is being conducted by the Jewish Welfare Federation as a basis for evaluating community needs and planning future health and welfare services, it was announced today by Robert M. Levison, chairman of the Federation's Population Study Advisory Committee.

A staff of interviewers will spend the next two and a half months making calls upon households to collect data on the location and specific interests of the community served by the Federation. In order to find out where Jewish households are located, some non-Jewish households may be contacted, but only Jewish families will be interviewed, Levison said.

In announcing the project, Levison noted that the general growth of population in San Mateo, Santa Clara and Marin counties was reflected in the changing patterns of Jewish population in this area.

"As a result, it has become increasingly difficult and costly for the Federation to plan health and welfare programs for the community it serves without information on the nature, location and needs of the Jewish population," he explained.

DC Police Athletic League Needs Funds Or Unit Might Fizzle Out

"Money," its lack and means of getting it by donations, was the oft-repeated word at the recent meeting of Daly City's Police Athletic League board of directors.

To put it bluntly, the future of the PAL here—the first ever established in California—depends on how much Daly City residents — from all walks — get behind the year-old organization.

PAL President John Coleman and Police Chief Roland Petrocchi soberly explained the plight of the youth-benefitting unit.

The PAL currently has a membership of 400 boys and only $967.48 in the treasury. That's after a full year of activities in baseball, basketball, boxing, et cetera.

With more boys anxious to join every week, the load is becoming impossible financially.

So, directors at the meeting decided to appoint Superior Judge Frank Blum, Muni Judge Tom Bocci Jr. and broker Pete Markovich to carry the word to Daly City's business leaders.

Their plan is to solicit donations, $100 a year or $5 a year, to keep the PAL treasury from going in the red and prevent the cancellation of many year-round activities for the growing crop of PAL members.

Coleman and his staff already have made great strides towards the formation of a county-wide PAL boxing commission. Inter-city competition will aid each PAL unit's budget.

Mayor Micheal DeBernardi also will designate another "PAL Week," during which a door-to-door drive will be made to raise funds for PAL.

PAL's sports plans are unlimited. The kids have been itching to organize a team for competition in the much-publicized Pop Warner Football League. But the PAL hasn't even got enough money to adequately sponsor baseball and basketball—two of the most popular sports.

Insurance has been a major woe. Directors, while ordering a committee to sound out companies for group insurance coverage, have renewed last year's policy which has a limit of $1500 in medical expenses. One big damage suit resulting from injury to a boy would put PAL out of business under the present insurance coverage.

Coleman suggested that parents of PAL boys help pay the $2.50 insurance premium. If the PAL had to foot the entire bill, its present budget would be exhausted.

The odd thing about the insurance coverage is that only PAL's adult supervisors and coaches are covered—$25,000 per bodily injury and $50,000 for each accident. No company, as yet, is willing to take a chance of insuring of kids on a group basis. The rates would be too high.

Anyone wishing to help the PAL directors—immediately—with ideas on how to raise money, should call Chief Petrocchi or Coleman at the police station, PL 5-0850.

Others attending the board meeting included City Manager George Watts, school board chairman Joseph Lewkowicz, recreation commissioner Tony Giammona, parks and recreation director Dee Van Nest, high school athletic chief Mike Orlich, Rev. Thomas Whelpley, Robert Sherwood, and Officer Robert Crocker.

SOUTH CITY GAME NEXT WEEK

Winless Jeff, Mateans Await 'Cellar' Scrap

Winless in seven games, Jefferson High's varsity football team has two big targets as the campaign hits the final weeks.

This Friday afternoon down the road Coach Joe McGrath's eleven will meet identical record San Mateo (0-4) to see which squad will escape the Peninsula League cellar.

Next Wednesday night at 8, the Indians invade South San Francisco for their annual "big one" against a lukewarm Warrior team. Last games don't count here.

The Tribe muffed a 19-0 lead last week and lost to a never-say-quit Burlingame, 26-19, on the Panthers' turf.

Halfback Pete Garcia continued his outstanding feats by running over two touchdowns and passing to Bob Woolrich for a third. Blingum's superior line sparked the long comeback and kept the Panthers right on unbeaten Hillsdale's tail. Blingum and Cap are 3-1, Hillsdale is 5-0.

McGrath's team all year has come terribly close to victory, each time losing out in the "breaks" department.

They gave Hillsdale a real scare, tallied twice against Cap, lost only one TD to South Peninsula leader Cubberley, and, in general, have played well considering lack of depth and injuries.

Bob Nielson and John Dean again will anchor the Indian line against San Mateo—and these All-League hopefuls might turn the tide. Garcia, Jerry Kennedy, Jim Ahern and John Margaroni will shoulder the backfield load.

South City, 2-1 in the PL, will be out to avenge Jeff's one-point decision of last year. When the Tribe and Warriors clash, both squads usually play like world beaters.

The Indians are overdue. They've been knocking on the door too long.

Cap Runners Tie Westmoor For '58 Title

Coach Ernie Ribera's Westmoor High varsity football team Friday had to settle for a tie in their Peninsula League championship showdown here.

The defending champion Rams, unbeaten in dual meet competition, finished second to Capuchino in last week's final. Westmoor and the San Brunans thus wound up with the same number of season points, based on dual meets and the league finale outcome.

Dave Dunbar, Westmoor's varsity trump card all year, won Friday's seven-team scramble, crossing the tape after 1.9 miles in 9:55. Jeff Fishback of San Mateo actually finished first, breaking Dunbar's course record with a clocking of 9:47.7. Fishback's feat did not count officially.

Cap had 44 varsity points, Westmoor 54, followed by San Mateo, 68; Burlingame, 94; Jefferson, 119, and South San Francisco, 153. Low scores are best in cross-country. Hillsdale failed to tally and Mills High did not compete.

Jeff won the frosh-soph meet, but San Mateo took the league title on seasonal points. Westmoor was fifth in this bracket. San Mateo's second place finish Friday, coupled with seven dual meet wins, gave the Bearcats a 9-8½ point championship edge over Jeff.

Westmoor won the JV competition with 21 points. San Mateo, with 54, was second, followed by Jeff, with 57 points.

Ram Gridders Face Cap In PL Finale

Outfooted by loop-leading Hillsdale last week, 45-19, Westmoor's varsity Rams will be out to end their Peninsula League campaign with a 3-3 mark this Friday when they host Capuchino's beefy Mustangs in the final game for the Daly City eleven.

Hillsdale proved its championship caliber last Friday with a hard-won victory, led by the one-two ground salvos of Ron Peters and Dick Herdander. Peters accounted for the first three Knight tallies in the opening quarter and the Rams never recovered—but they did make a fight of it.

The San Mateans led at halftime 26-12 and used their entire bench in the rain-soaked second half.

Westmoor's running attack again was sparked by the All-League running of Tom McHugh and Bob Roller. McHugh got off an 80-yard TD run just before the halftime, aided by Rich Blakemore's spectacular blocking. Tom carried the ball
